

BCPNP British Columbia (BC) Provincial Nominee Program Immigrants

<https://www.welcomebc.ca/Immigrate-to-B-C/Skills-Immigration>

British Columbia, also known as BC, is one of the four provinces in Canada. Located in the westernmost part of Canada, BC has a mild climate and most of the province is forested. The capital of BC is Victoria, located on Vancouver Island, and the largest city is Vancouver.

British Columbia's economic growth depends on sufficient skilled workers and entrepreneurs to meet the needs of the Labour market and ensure that the province continues to prosper. New immigrants play an important role in supplementing current and future Labour market shortages.

The BC Provincial Nominee Program (BC PNP) is an economic immigration program that provides an immigration pathway for foreign workers and experienced entrepreneurs who contribute to the province's economy. Applicants and their spouse and children who have been nominated by the Province of BC are eligible to submit a permanent residence visa application to the Commonwealth for a Maple Leaf card.

At present, most of the BCPNP nominated immigration programs in British Columbia require an employer offer. Only master's degree graduates can apply without an employer offer after meeting the conditions.

The Province of BC nominates the Skilled Worker category

BC's growing economy requires skilled and experienced workers. The Skilled Worker category is a way for workers in professional, managerial, technical, mechanic or other skilled occupations to obtain permanent residency in BC.

- If you choose the EE BC route, you need to meet the application conditions and language requirements of one of the categories of Federal Skilled Worker (FSW), Federal Skilled Worker (FST) or Federal Experience Class (CEC) under the EE system.

The Province of BC nominates the Health Authority category

Health care is an important priority in BC. Applicants may be eligible to apply for this category if they have a full-time job offer in any occupation from a public health facility in BC. No registration is required for this category and an application can be submitted directly to BC Nominations if all conditions are met.
